In the culture of self, a lesson of paramount importance is absolute mastery of temper. If children were early taught by parents the supreme importance of conquering their tempers and developing a sweet, sympathetic and cheerful spirit, they would receive a richer dower than wealth could buy. Let us learn how to live in harmony with all that is pure, noble and uplifting.

AMUSEMENTS.

"THE NEW BOY."—This roaring comedy which is in the hands of a remarkably clever company, will be presented at the Academy of Music next Monday night only. The Austin Statesman says:

"One of the eleverest shows of the season was at Millett's Opera House last night in the appearance of "The New Boy" Company. From the opening to the closing act the house was a perfect ripple of laughter. This testimonial to the merits of the performance as a laugh producer did not come from the gallery, which is generally the originator of such testimonials, but it came from the parquet and dress circle. The laughter was of that subdued but pronounced tone that betokens the hearty enjoyment of those from whom it emanated. Never in the history of the Opera House has such a thoroughly annised audilence been within its walls. "The play was in the hands of a remarkably clever company in every particular. Bert Coote took the part of the New Boy," and made a success most pronounced out of this character, which is not unlike Mr. Spaulding in the "Private Secretary." There was not a stick in the entire company. In fact, they were all artists, and The Statesman regrets that all Austin did not witness the performance, which would, have certainly pleased the most blase."

regrets that all Austin did not witness the performance, which would 'have certainly pleased the most blase.'

SOUSA'S PEERLESS BAND.—The amouncement that Sousa's band is to play in Norfolk interests all musticovers. There are none who can resist the swing of the delightful music of Sousa and his peerless band. His marches are played wherever music is known and loved, and their magnetism pervades the musical atmosphere of the entire country. Of 'the influence of Sousa upon the musical growth of the country, there is no question. Our music-loving people will doubtless turn out in large numbers to welcome Sousa on Friday, December 13th, when he will give two grand concerts.

BRAMBLETON.

Webb, was prenched from the family residence, No. 425 West Highland avenue.

There is need of an electric light on the yards of the Norfolk, Albemarie and Allantic Railroad Company, at Brambleton station. There is much passing between Clay and Park avenues to and from places of business on the latter thoroughfare. In fact, this yard is located in the heart of Brambleton, the very centre of business activity. The company's buildings on this property are so situated as to obstruct the lights that would otherwise shine on the yards. Hamlin avenue lies alongside the excavation occupied by the turntable. Persons walking, or driving, that way might at any time of a dark night tumble headlong into this pit and be seriously damaged. It requires a light to reflect at this point and others on this property for safe passage at night. The electric lights already in the neighborhood can do no good at this point. That part of the Norfolk Street Company's electric line along Clay avenue, from McKendree Church to Brambleton avenue, is in precisely the same ix as to the need of light. Motormen can't see ahead of the cars half the time, when the nights are dark, and man or beast may at any time be run into, and all owing to faulty lights. An electric light properly ime be run into, and all owing to fau time be run into, and all owing to faulty lights. An electric light properly located would fully accompilsh all the purposes herein indicated. Let there be light.

A splendid marriage at Festival Hall last night at '9 o'clock. Who were the parties? The reporter did not know. It was the "Gypsy Wedding," under auspices of the Young People's Union of Park Avenue Baptist Church, directed by Dr. L. R. Chiles—an affair of unique grace and transplendent brilliancy. A large audience witnessed it with A large audience witnesseld it with great delight. There will be three en-tertalnments given next week-Tues-day, Thursday and Friday nights-and then Exposition exit.
